PAYMASTER OF Y. & O. COAL CO. IS "HELD UP"

Early Reports of Robbery Fail To Give Particulars—Porter Is Wounded.

Charleroi, Pa., July 15.—Bandits today robbed Paymaster Porter of the Y. & O. Coal Company, of a bag containing $40,000 it was reported here today. The robbery took place in a street car three miles away from here. Porter was enroute to the local mine of the company when attacked. Unverified reports stated Porter was wounded in the battle which followed.

CLEARFIELD CLINIC LOSES STATE AID

Harrisburg, Pa., July 15.—Limited appropriations are responsible for the severance of a number of clinics from state aid, it was announced by the State Health Department today. Clearfield is included in the list given out.

Earth Disturbances Reported In Small Virginia Village

Bristol, Tenn., July 15.—Severe earth disturbances at Mendota, Virginia were reported here early today. The reports received here declare that several acres of ground were heaved up in some places and sunken in others. Large breaks in the river banks skirting the small town occurred.

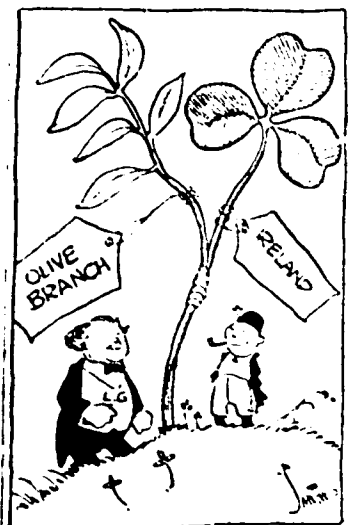

OFFICIALS BELIEVE JAPAN ONLY PLAYING FOR TIME

Washington, July 15.—Japan has asked the United States for amplification of the proposed discussion of Pacific problems in the forthcoming disarmament conference to be held at Washington, it was learned today.

Washington, D. C., July 15.—"Play me for time," is the explanation put forward in authoritative quarters here today for the vagueness of the Japanese reply to the American proposed conference on disarmament and Far East affairs.

All other nations have accepted flatly but portions of the Japanese answer are considered confusing. Another explanation is that Japan consents to a discussion of disarmament but omitted reference to the Far East question on account of internal policies.

Whatever the explanation officials of this government have made it clear they intend to go ahead with plans for formally calling the conference.

GOVERNORS OF 16 STATES ENDORSE DISARMAMENT

New York, N. Y., July 15.—Governors of sixteen states representing more than twenty million persons, today endorsed President Harding's disarmament conference. In messages to the United Press, the executives declared themselves for armament limitation on the following grounds:

Prevention of war; relief from tax burdens and improvement of general world economic situation.

Gov. Percival Baxter, of Maine, summed up the general attitude of his colleagues when he declared "nations of the world must disarm or go morally and financially bankrupt."

To this, Gov. G. W. Davis, of Idaho added "We cannot talk of peace achievement with knives in our hands."

WIDOW DECIDES TO TAKE STAND IN OWN DEFENSE

Changes Her Mind As Case Is About Ready To Go To the Jury—Finish Tonight.

Cleveland, Ohio, July 15.—Weeping hysterically Mrs. Katharine Eva Kaber, on trial for the murder of her husband, Daniel Kaber, wealthy Lakewood publisher, moaned in court today "I didn't do it. They know I didn't do it. I want to tell."

Carried into Court

The accused widow was carried into the court room when her trial was resumed here this morning. William Corrican, the defense attorney, after a short whispered conference, announced Mrs. Kaber wanted to go on the stand and tell of her life with Dan Kaber.

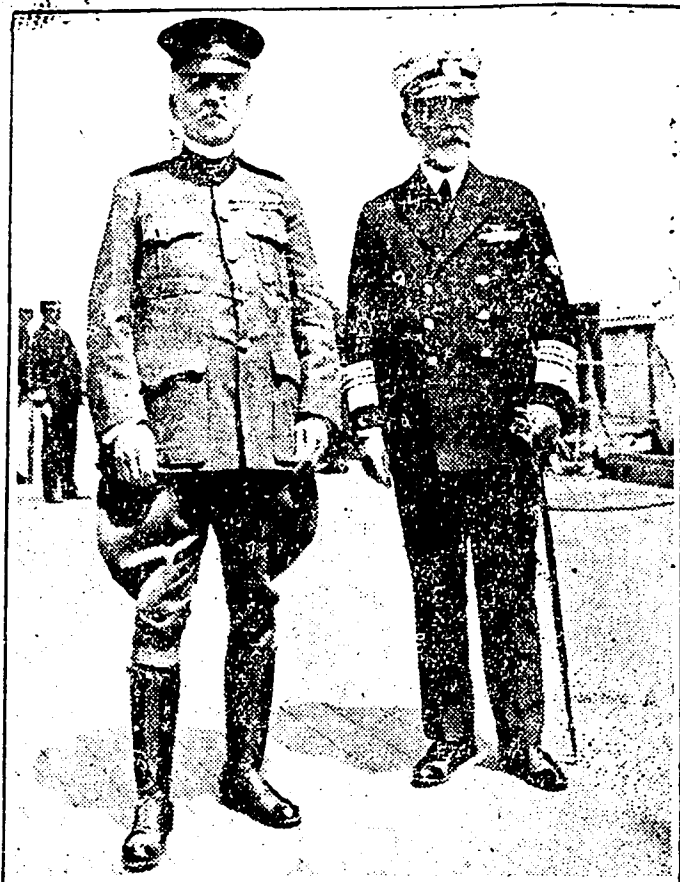

Late yesterday, following Mrs. Kaber's collapse in the county jail she refused to take the stand in her own behalf and the defense immediately requested its case. Because of change of attitude since yesterday her attorneys announced they would place Mrs. Kaber on the stand today in rebuttal.

YESTERDAY IS VISITORS DAY AT CAMP McPHERSON

Troop 4 Has Made Good At Policing Grounds and Barracks.

Yesterday was visitors day at home of Clearfield's Boy Scouts, and many Clearfielders interested in the lads enjoying the outing at the camp braved the bad roads and visited the camp during the day.

Troop 4 In Camp

Those visiting Camp McPherson, certainly found a healthy, husky, hearty bunch of youngsters. Troop 4 was accorded the enviable privilege of opening the camp and the boys showed their appreciation of the honor by digging in and cleaning up the grounds surrounding the barracks and constructed a temporary lam across Montgomery Creek a couple of hundred yards distant, where the six o'clock morning plunge is taken, following a fifteen minutes setting up exercise, as more or less of a religious rite.

Boys Enjoying Themselves

The boys are happy and contented under the supervision of Captain Russell Snavely, while the excellent food provided by Chef Guy Lawhead leaves nothing to be desired.

The alert, bright-eyed youngsters making up the camp population are dreadfully brown as berries and are fast acquiring Scout lore. It will do your heart good to go up to the Camp and look them over, and if you don't believe us try it yourself on Sunday, the next visitor's day at the camp.

Camp McPherson is located on James A. McPherson's property on Montgomery Creek, at the old Lender place, about four miles from Clearfield. The road leads up the right hand side of Montgomery Creek, from McPherson's mill or around through Mt Zion by way of Jonathan Ogden's. Look the Scouts over in camp.

CLEARFIELD CO. MEDICOS MEET AT MADERA WED.

LARGEST ATTENDANCE IN RECENT HISTORY OF MEDICAL SOCIETY IS RECORDED.

The regular monthly meeting of the Clearfield county Medical Society was held at Madera on Wednesday last. The meeting aside from its transaction of the regular business of the Society, was in the nature of a testimonial to Dr. S. J. Miller, who is the State Senator from this district, in appreciation of the manner in which he looked after the interests of the medical profession in the legislative halls at Harrisburg.

The meeting showed the largest attendance in the recent history of the society. The feature of the regular meeting of the Society was a paper by Dr. Miller on "The Feeble Blinded of Our State." It was very ably prepared and was greatly appreciated by the assembled physicians.

Following the business meeting the assembled physicians were the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Miller and Dr. and Mrs. Connelly at a most delightful banquet at the Miller home.

But the "Bad Man" is Preferable. The "bad man of the plains" is now extinct, his place having been taken by more deft, more cunning, swindlers, yeggmen and other criminals.—Boston Transcript.

MOTION SHELVEING BONUS MEASURE BEFORE SENATE

Republican Leaders Expect Strong Opposition On Motion To Re-commit Bill.

Washington, D. C., July 15.—Final action on a bill to delay the $34.4 million bonus bill will take place today in the Senate. The motion to send the bill back to committee, Republican leaders declare, is a foregone conclusion, but likely instructions to the Senate Finance Committee concerning future action on the measure will be adopted.

AGED COUNTY HOME MAN FALLS—DIES FROM INJURIES

Went To DuBois To View Last Remains of Dead Friend—Found Dying.

Owen Banks, an aged resident of the county home, went to DuBois last evening for the purpose of viewing the remains of "Granny" Foley, an old friend. Mr. Banks went to the home of Terrence Connelly, across the street, on Weber avenue. About 1 o'clock he started for the Foley home. Shortly after he was found by William and John Connelly, William Carey and J. G. Valleley, lying in the ditch along the road. Mr. Banks was badly injured and died shortly after being carried into the Connelly home. Coroner Pollum was called and made an examination, but did not determine the exact cause of death. It was evident, however, that the old man had tumbled down a steep bank along the street.

The only known relatives of the deceased are James McClune, of Cass and, and William McCune, of Windber, nephews.

FIRST AID TEAMS WILL STAGE A BIG COMPETITIVE MEET

Tomorrow Will Be Big Day At the Local Driving Park—More Than 200 Expected.

The first aid teams representing the Peal Coal operations in this section of Clearfield, Cambria and Indiana counties will stage a competitive meet at the Clearfield driving park tomorrow morning. There will be more than two hundred and fifty representatives of this huge industrial concern on the ground for this meet, which will be highly interesting and instructive.

Following the meet at the park Mr. Peale will entertain those participating at the Hotel Jordan.

The American Legion Band has been engaged for the occasion and will add their full measure to the entertainment and pleasure of the occasion.

The address made at Patton recently by Mr. T. H. Watkins, President of the Pennsylvania Coal & Coke Corporation, created considerable comment among people generally and brought forth a pamphlet reply from President Brophy of the U. M. REMAINS OF HARRY DELANEY, WAR HERO, WILL BE HERE SOON

WAR DEPARTMENT NOTIFIES MOTHER BODY IS IN NEW YORK — FELL IN FRANCE.

Mrs. Florence Delaney was notified by wire from the War Department this morning that the body of her son, Harry E. Delaney, who died as the result of wounds received in battle during the World War, had arrived in New York and was ready for shipment to Clearfield, which would be done immediately upon arrival of word from her acknowledging receipt of notice and confirmation of the arrangement made by the War Department.

The desired confirmation was wired to New York this morning by Lloyd Wrigley, son-in-law of Mrs. Delaney, and it is expected the body will arrive in Clearfield next week.

Harry, better known as "Red" Delaney, was one of Clearfield's most popular young men, when he enlisted in the army in his country's defense. He was assigned to the medical corps of the regular army and trained for several months at Gettysburg. After going overseas he decided that it was too slow in the medical corps and asked to be transferred to a combat unit. He was assigned to a machine gun unit and was severely wounded by a fragment of high explosive shell, which struck him in the abdomen during the advance on Cincy on September 30, 1918. His death occurred October 3d.

Coal Situation As It Affects This Region. Mr. Watkins very readily consented to come here and Rotarians and invited guests to the number of over one hundred assembled at The Simling Hotel to hear him discuss his interesting topic. At the conclusion of his regular address on the coal situation Mr. Watkins replied at length and in detail to the pamphlet issued by Mr. Brophy. Following are his remarks in reply:

Answer to District Officers' Pamphlet. "The officers of District No. 2 have come out with a pamphlet in answer to my Patton address. In it they convey the impression that the Central Coal Association asks the union to break the contract now running, which expires April first next. The Central Coal Association has asked for a conference to consider its modification—not its abrogation. It does not ask the district union to 'cut loose' from their national union. Business men frequently meet changed conditions through modifying contracts by mutual agreement. The miners' unions are the parties that break running contracts when conditions favor such action. Contracts have been broken by the miners' leaders of this District, and by convention action. One notable instance was contract made April 1st, 1916, running to April 1st, 1918. On May 8th, 1917, John Brophy, Chas. O'Neil and James Marks signed a letter to the operators' Association, in which they stated: 'In the event the operators do not agree to the demands of the convention on or before May 15th, the office Committee has been ordered to all a suspension of work in all mines in the District on that date.' This notwithstanding the fact our country was at war.

An advance was then forced on the operators, but, not satisfied with that, in October of the same year another advance was forced which made the 1917 scale, to be effective until the discontinuance of the war, or until April 1st, 1920.

On November 1st, 1919 the national strike was called, and District No. 2 went on strike without even asking for a conference, or notifying us of their intention to strike. With such record District No. 2 now stands up in sanctity of contracts, and again noting from the pamphlet just published, says: 'We have no intention of abandoning collective bargaining.' The pamphlet says: 'The facts are these: The Mine Workers are working under a scale of wages fixed by the United States Bituminous Coal Commission. These schedules were written into an agreement between miners and operators which will not terminate until March 31, 1922. This is a contract and will not be broken by the mine workers. Abrogation of it in any one district would cause disturbance throughout the nation.'

The foregoing statement is far from the truth. The real facts are that the United Mine Workers of America threw the Commission's yard into the scrap-heap, along with former wage agreements, less than six months after it had been accepted by them as the basis of a new wage scale. On August 15th, 1920, as a result of illegal strikes and other insubordinate methods, they forced an advance of $1.50 per day to day and monthly employees, over and above the scale of wages fixed by the Commission.

By the same illegal methods they then attempted to secure bonuses and extra rates for yardage and deadwork throughout this region. By the so-called blacksmith strike they again violated the contract and caused thousands of dollars of useless loss to their men and to the operator.

We are not working under the scale of wages fixed by the United States Bituminous Coal Commission. It appears to me that the officers of District No. 2 are not working under the scale of wages fixed by the Commission.

Thos. H. Watkins Answers Brophy's Allegations

strict No. 2 have made and broken so many contracts in the last five years that their memories have grown hazy as to which one of these numerous contracts they now want to pretend is valid.

If we are working under the wage scale fixed by the Commission, then the operators are now violating it by paying $1.50 a day too much, and this should immediately come off.

The Central Coal Association, to which the pamphlet refers, is composed of operators owning one hundred and ninety mines, producing over ten millions tons annually.

The pamphlet reads: "Will Mr. Watkins, will the operators state what they want? Will they state it in the precise terms of collective bargaining? Do they wish a joint conference in order to attempt a wage reduction? Our answer is this: There will be no wage reduction during the life of the contract period."

I need hardly point out the confusion of their minds when they tell us that if we do ask for a conference for the purpose of considering a wage reduction they also say in the same breath they will not consider it. Apart from such deficiency in logic, the pamphlet is conspicuous for two reasons: first, its misstatements; second, its omission. For instance, they forgot to mention the iniquitous and damnable check-off system.

Of all American business men the coal operator is the only one to tolerate such nonsense.

The fact is, that the headquarters of the United Mine Workers at Indianapolis think they have passed final judgment on the question of modification of the contract; so that the union miners, operators and merchants of this District are left subject to the judgment of a far-away autocratic power, not acquainted, or much concerned, with our local conditions because the officers of this District have not the courage or intelligence to recognize their own responsibilities.

The pamphlet quotes percentages of tonnage being mined from this District as compared with Illinois, Indiana and Somerset Counties that are misleading. The tonnage figures of this District quoted are correct, but ignore the fact that most of the tonnage is from mines working on a readjusted wage basis. Many union mines are not working at all; others about twenty per cent, and those working on the contract are miserably losing what they are producing as contracts expire. How can it be otherwise, when coal is being mined and sold for seventy-five cents to one dollar per ton below our average cost on the present scale?

The pamphlet says: "Light will be thrown on my reaction" by quoting earnings of our company for the past few years. I wish the figures were correct, but instead of being "net" earnings, or "profits," as the pamphlet says, they are in gross, from which a large proportion was paid in Federal taxes. Cost of replacement is not deducted. The net results of my company's operations show an average profit from January 1st, 1916 to June 1st, 1921, of 27.5 per cent, of 8,333,100 per cent on actual capital invested. We are now operating at an actual loss.

Mr. Watkins then launched into a comparison of mine wages with rail wages and a discussion of the check-off system, saying:

"You may be interested in a comparison of the wages now paid mine labor in this district, with the wages to be paid to railroad employees under the recent readjustment:

Check-Off System.

We are the only class of employees in this country that collect what is called the check-off. It is a system of collecting union dues and assessment from the pay envelope and turning it over to the union officials. In the early days of collective bargaining in Central Pennsylvania, the mine workers prevailed upon the coal operators to institute, under the joint wage scale agreement, a system of collecting funds from the miners pay envelopes for the maintenance of check weighmen on the tipplers. The check weighmen are elected at each colliery by the men and are placed upon the tipplers for the purpose of seeing that the men get honest weight for their coal, and keeping accounts of tonnages mined each day by each man.

The union operators do not object to the employment and use of check weighmen by the miners for their protection; in fact, encourage it. Out of this grew a system of collecting sufficient funds to maintain a check weighman and as well supply funds to the union for the purpose of paying salaries to its officers.

The development of this system has grown through years of custom and agreement until today District No. 2 of the United Mine Workers of America has collected for it by the operators from the miners' pay envelopes approximately $1,500,000 per year. In other words, the funds which support the unions are collected by the operators themselves.

After payment of the check weighman's wages, the balance of this huge fund is devoted to such purposes as the leaders of the union may decide. These funds have been used to support strikes in other districts, and indirectly at least, to pay expense of men engaged in the work of organizing radical, political parties, and the expenses of candidates running for public office upon radical, political platforms. The funds have been used for the agitation and dissemination of propaganda which has for its purpose the destruction of the operator's business and his elimination, as shown by the miners' "Program."

Now, when it comes to collecting money from our employees to support strikes in this or other districts, and to pay the expenses of a "Program," it is time for us to strike against continuing this practice.

The check-off was also granted in the belief that it would help the union organization officials to educate its membership in the faithful performance of scale agreement. Unfortunately, it has been turned into an instrument to destroy the individual spirit of the men by the closed shop, and now with the latest "Program" is to furnish the funds to "bite the hand that feeds it."

The United States Department of Justice itself claims that the practice constitutes a criminal conspiracy between the operators and the union, and now has under indictment hundreds of operators and miners' officials under the Sherman Anti-Trust Law. It is bad in theory and vicious in practice that we should be agents to collect union dues. If a man does not think enough of his union rights to pay his dues voluntarily, we should be ashamed to be a party to force him. Talk about Liberty. Freedom of individual rights becomes absurd under these conditions.

A Sound Basis For Labor Relations.

In 1902 there was a great anthracite coal strike. A commission appointed by President Roosevelt, in its award, uttered some fundamental truths, which will bear repetition here.

"The union must not undertake to assume, or to interfere with, the management of the business of the employer. It should strive to make membership in it so valuable as to attract all who are eligible, but in its efforts to build itself up, it must not lose sight of the fact that those who may think differently, have certain rights guaranteed them by our free government. Abraham Lincoln said: 'No man is good enough to govern another man without that other's consent.' This is as true in trade unions as elsewhere. 'Our language is the language of a free people, and fails to form any form of speech by which the right of a citizen to work when he pleases, for whom he pleases, and under what terms he pleases, can be successfully denied.'

"This all seems too plain for argument. Common sense and common law alike denounce the conduct of those who interfere with this fundamental right of the citizen. The assertion of the right seems trite and commonplace, but that land is blessed where the maxims of liberty are commonplace."

The Commission "adjudged and awarded that no person shall be refused employment, or in any way discriminated against, on account of the membership or non-membership in any labor organizations, and that there shall be no discrimination against, or interference with, any employee who is not a member of any labor organization by members of such organization."

Digging the Country Out.

In conclusion: I can think of no better expression on the present situation than was given in an editorial in the New York Herald on June 27th, entitled: "Digging the Country Out," which is as follows:

"President Harding's conference with bankers to consider ways and means of digging the country out of the industrial landslide can be of help, and big help. But anybody, whether he is a farmer, a railroad man, a manufacturer, a merchant, or a wage earner, that thinks the government and the banks can do themselves perform this feat of economic rescue was never more wrong. The country has got to dig itself out, with everybody lending a hand. Available capital at a low carrying charge is as necessary an implement to the farmer as his plough and his harrow. But if there is no market for his crop, the money that goes into it, cheap or dear, dry rot with his crop while it waits for a buyer.

The steel mill, or the coal mine, the lumber company, or the builder, the grocer or the butcher, may fix a price, but unless it is a right price in the economic conditions that prevail, it will not get the business.

Let the workers fall to else where as on the farm at a wage and with a will that will produce a fruitage that will sell in competitive markets, and the problem will be solved.

A heavy responsibility is on the banks to accept a lower interest wage for their deposited capital, but there is no heavier responsibility on anybody than there is on American labor to take a wage that will permit the wheels of industry to turn for production, the markets to swarm with buyers, and the nation to rejoice as it works."

The opening of Mr. Watkins' address gives one a very concise com-

Notice To Voters in Boroughs and Townships

All persons either male or female intending to vote at the Fall Primary Election, which takes place on the 20th day of September, 1921, should see that their name has been registered and enrolled under the party of their choice within the time prescribed by law, otherwise they will be unable to vote at this primary, which is a highly important election.

There is no provision in the law for posting notices of the dates set apart for the final enrollment.

July 19th and 20 The Last and Important Dates

The law provides that the assessors and assistants shall be present at the Election House in each district within the county on July 19th and 20th, 1921, from 10 o'clock a. m. to 3 o'clock p. m. and from 6 o'clock p. m. to 9 o'clock p. m. for the purpose of enrolling or changing enrollment as members of a political party. After this time there is no provision for registering or enrolling any person.

It is, therefore, advisable that intending voters should ascertain by personal inquiry on or before these dates whether they have been enrolled or not, and in the event that their name does not appear on the assessor's list they should request an enrollment certificate from the assessor and see that it has been made of record by the assessor before the time has expired.

While it is the duty of the assessor to register each and every voter residing within his precinct, and without doubt they have made an honest effort to provide a correct and accurate list of all persons entitled to the ballot, but in case there are any omissions it should not be charged as the fault of the assessor, as the law indicates that it is the duty of every voter to see that they have been properly enrolled, and on that account this notice is being published.

The assessor will cheerfully assist in correcting any errors that may appear upon his records, as the burden rests upon each voter to see that their right of franchise has not been lost on account of not being properly registered.

BUSINESS FIRST IS NOW OBJECT OF THE SOVIET

By LLOYD ALLEN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
London, July 14.—(By Mail.)—
Bolshevism has gone into business.

For the time being at any rate, the world-wide political propaganda of the Soviets has been side-tracked.

Today the Soviet communists are searching world markets for machinery, textiles, locomotives and repair parts for the crippled Russian factories. They want some food—canned goods mainly.

Today Soviet Russia is actually buying goods in every highly industrialized country; England, Germany, Italy and—America, not IN America, as yet.

This is a rough summary of what I learn from the Russian Trade Delegation here in London, the chief of which is Leonid Krassin; one time revolutionist, still a communist, but also a man "who believes in the realities," as Soviet attaches here say.

In other words Krassin is classed by his own people as a "practical idealist" as contrasted with the purely theoretical communist of which Russia has her full share these days.

One year ago Soviet Russia's reputation here in London (except in Labor Circles) was blacker probably than in any other country in Europe.

Today a marvelous transformation has taken place. Soviet commissioners may be seen any day hurrying to and fro in the business section of London, some of them riding in spanking brand new automobiles, huge large portfolios of specifications, busily engaged in ordering goods for Russia.

No longer is the bar of silence maintained between the Soviet Delegation and the newspapers. Soviet Communiques are issued with as much freedom and more frequently than statements come from the old established embassies of France, Italy and other powers.

An organization of Southern church people has been formed for the purpose of putting over a National blue law. They made their first attack on Congress this week and here is the progressive, up-to-date legislation they want put across:

"Hereafter it shall be unlawful: For any person in the employment of the United States to work or carry on his ordinary vocation on Sunday.

"For any person or corporation to operate on Sunday any freight or passenger train or mail train, or any other train or part of a train in the carrying on of interstate commerce, trade or traffic of any kind.

"For any Post Office to be open on Sunday or to deliver mail on Sunday; for any mail to be carried or delivered on Sunday by any employee of the United States whether in city or country."

For any newspaper or other paper or publication published or purporting to be published on Sunday to be received, carried, or delivered as mail at any agency of the United States, in any Post office, or over any route under the jurisdiction of the United States.

"For any person or corporation engaged in interstate commerce or carrying on any business or vocation under the laws of or with the permission or license from the United States or any of its agencies, to do or carry on any ordinary vocation or business on Sunday. The purpose of this act being to repress our national determination to honor the Sabbath Day and keep it holy, as God commands, thereby securing for all that opportunity for spiritual and bodily refreshments decreed by our Lord for the happiness of all men and the safety of all nations.

"Any person who does any of the things above declared unlawful or who procures or aids another in doing any of the things above declared unlawful, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and punished upon conviction by a fine of not under $100 nor over $10,000 for each offense and by imprisonment for not over six months, at the discretion of the court.

"Any corporation that does or aids in doing these forbidden things shall upon conviction be fined not less than $1,000 nor over $100,000 for each offense and upon conviction a second time for like offense shall forfeit its charter and franchise and be enjoined from operating in interstate commerce, provided, however, that emergency instances of charity and necessity are not included nor punishable under the provisions of this act."

"God save the Commonwealth."

The married women of Riverhead, N. Y., have asserted their inalienable rights and got an upper Court decision in that State confirming what we have always understood here in Pennsylvania to long have been the law of this land. A Riverhead woman snatched $10 from her husband's trousers the other night while the aforesaid old man was virtuously snoozing. Loaded down with his newly acquired wealth the woman went to New York city and blew in the $10 on a good time. Friend husband was angry when he missed his ten spot and had his wife haled before the lower court and given a four month jail sentence. Then the "housewife's" protecting agency got busy. They abstracted money enough from their husband's pockets while they slept to finance an appeal to the higher courts and the learned judge (who is also married) decided very promptly that the woman should be released and went further by ruling that "a married woman can't steal from her husband." The judge held that when a man was tied to the matrimonial slaughter and repeated "and on thee all my worldly goods I do endow," it meant just what it said and the husband was supposed to make good. No man could utter such words with his fingers crossed and then get his wife put in jail when she supplemented his endowment by endowing herself when he was not looking with any portion of his financial resources that struck her fancy or her fingers. Besides if that was not the law, the jails wouldn't hold them all.

When Henry Ford makes a new car for every 20 seconds of the day it means a production in this country at the rate of three a minute. 180 every time the big hand goes around the clock and more than 4,000 between one sunrise and the next. It means that for the 25 working days of July 100,000 cars—can't you see them swarming in the streets and roads?

COLLINS—ROWLES

Alexander Collins, of O'Shanter, and Miss Grace Rowles, of Geln Richey, popular young people of that section of the county were united in marriage by Rev. Dr. E. C. Reeve at the Presbyterian Manse this morning. The bridal pair were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Leight, Jr., of Curwensville.

Flowers Found New Homes.
It is not generally known that the betadonia lily was procured from South America in 1502, while the Guernsey lily was brought from Japan and was first cultivated at the beginning of the seventeenth century in the garden of an Englishman in Paris. This plant is said to have derived its name from the following episode. A ship, laden with bulbs, was wrecked off the coast of Guernsey. A number of the bulbs were cast upon the shore and took root in the soil, where they grew rapidly.

Another Convincing Endorsement Given Famous Nerv-Worth

Fosteria, O., Man Quickly Overcame
Weakness, Nerves, Sleeplessness.

"I had a sick spell, and it left me in such a nervous condition that I could not sleep," wrote M. L. Betzer, 220 W. North St., Fostoria, Ohio. "I was weak in the legs and couldn't go to work without being tired out at night. I decided to try Nerv-Worth and after my second bottle I am happy to say I sleep good, and I'm not a bit nervous. I'm getting more strength."

Nerv-Worth is sold and recommended by Stewart's Drug Store.

Penn. State Freshman Applications Will Be Received Up to Aug. 1

State College, Pa., July 14.—In order to give all an equal chance, applications for admission to the coming freshman classes at the Pennsylvania State College will be received and given every consideration until August first according to an announcement today by Registrar A. H. Espenshade. Credit certificates from applications have been pouring into his office by the hundred for the past month, and selection of the 800 men and women to make up the class is progressing slowly but to the utmost care required.

About one-third of the class quota has been filled, but hundreds of applications still remain for consideration.

giving ample opportunity for all who desire to take advantage of the August 1 limit. The task is so great that all cannot be admitted during July. Scholastic ability and personal fitness for college work are the principal factors governing admissions. The schools of engineering, agriculture and liberal arts lead in the choice of applicants. Industrial courses are the most popular and electrical engineering leads all others in the number of applications.

Cardinal Manning was extremely thin and emaciated. His emaciation was visiting a convent in Liverpool where an Irishwoman was cook. She was presented to the cardinal, and, after receiving his blessing, she looked up at him, and said: "May the Lord preserve your eminence, and oh, may God forgive your cook!"

HELP POLITICS ALONG

Many a voter, of both sexes, vehemently voiced their objections to various candidates of their party along about election time. They might just as well have cried for the moon. If more of the voters would take an active interest in helping select candidates at the primaries, there possibly might not be so much kicking about this and that one at the November election, and then again there might be more. Some of the old-timers, who have been used to having everything their own way in the primaries, might get an unpleasant surprise.

It is an undisputed fact there are many persons who probably could hold down various public offices more efficiently than many of the incumbents. The trouble is, however, it is either impossible to prevail upon them to put their private business cares aside and take up the public burden, or it is because they have bucked the "machine" in the primaries. The "machine" is always well "oiled" around about primary time, and each of the little cogs gets out to the polls, makes sure he or she is registered under the party of their choice, and then casts a ballot for their favorite at the election. On the other hand many a good candidate has been snuffed out at the primaries because those backing him failed to turn out in sufficient numbers to assure his name getting on the ballot.

Moral:—Make sure you are registered under the party of your choice. July 19th and 20th have been set aside for registration for the September primaries.

MINDING OUR OWN BUSINESS

At first thought, the contractual relations between the operators and the mine worker officials, appear to be nobody's business but their own, particularly to the people of this region who do not have to buy the coal, the price of which is determined by the cost of mining, except in those rare instances like a world war in which a shortage exists and a wild cat market is the result. Were we living in a region where the price of coal was a real item in our cost of living and doing business, the fact that it depleted our pocketbook would cause us to discuss it in the same way that we discuss the cost of meat when the western beef producer is reaping his harvest and the packer getting his.

At the present time the condition of the coal trade in this region is such that, although we do not buy coal, we are in a more serious way affected. The very livelihood of our thousands of mine workers is at stake and consequently the life of every going business which depends on the purchasing power of these thousands of workers.

Every word uttered by Mr. Watkins during the course of his address here last night should be carefully read; likewise, in fairness to all concerned, let every statement of Mr. Brophy be studied, with a view to determining what must be done to enable District No. 2 to hold and maintain its position as a factor in the bituminous markets of the world.

It most certainly is your business and my business to familiarize ourselves with a condition which threatens the stability of our businesses and is already robbing thousands of men of the right to work for their living.

Not alone should we be concerned with the question as to the effect on this district of present conditions but also with other angles of the question where it is charged that the professional labor leaders are seeking to throw over the established customs of collective bargaining, substitute labor leader rule of basic industries by means which strike at the very foundations of representative government, and set up rule by class. We shall not attempt to pass judgment on this at this time, further than to assert that we hardly believe that the great mass of intelligent mine workers whom we know will approve of their leader's association with such as Foster.

Uncle Sam and the disarmament situation is in much the same status as a small boy, standing on the banks of the old swimming hole, gazing longingly at its cooling depths. He might get relief if he cast off his breeches and jumped in, and then again he might have to "chaw green apples."

Thos. H. Watkins Answers Brophy's Allegations

Danger of Losing Its Natural and Geographic Advantages.

Your coal mines have been the principal source of revenue which for over thirty years has enabled the development of the prosperous cities, towns and mining villages of this District. The geographical location of the District, its nearness to the great industrial consuming centers of the East, Northern New York, Eastern Canada and New England, its railroad connection, its quality of coal, all favor and seem to promise a continuance of growth and prosperity. But all of these promising conditions are threatened by vicious and dangerous forces. I consider it my duty to call attention to them for your serious consideration.

I, of course, have a personal interest and responsibility as President of one of the largest producing coal companies in this District. My statement will probably be criticized as being made from a partisan or selfish viewpoint. However, in over forty years' active experience in the employment of labor for the production of anthracite and bituminous coal, I believe I have learned to take a broad, fair view, and to recognize that the operator has a great responsibility, and should be absolutely just and fair in his relationship to men who dig and handle the coal, to the consuming public and to society at large. The welfare of the men, their living conditions, their community life, their education and recreational facilities should be always uppermost in his mind, and never lost sight of, in determining policies. There never was a time in my experience when these principles were so generally practiced and recognized as they are today. Notwithstanding this, the fact is that every attempt on the part of the operator to carry out these policies and to bring about more wholesome, personal contact between the mine management and the employees, he is met with the active, open opposition of the professional labor leaders.

I will, as briefly as possible, attempt to review the economic and social conditions, which in my opinion now constitute the real menace to the continued peace and prosperity of Central Pennsylvania.

Evil After-Effects of Government Control of Industries.

Instead of at once realizing conditions after the Armistice, we, as a people, plunged into a whirlpool of extravagance; spent money as though it were stage money; the cost of living advanced; strike followed strike; there was indifference to work, and work poorly done. Our own government made grave mistakes during the war and since the Armistice, with its "cost plus" contracts, the yielding to organized labor demands in the shipyards and other government work, its placing union leaders in control in plants despite the protests of employees, who had previously managed their labor intelligently and fairly without the interference of professional labor leaders; but in the disastrous catalogue of government inefficiency in handling industrial problems, McAdoo's influence as Director General of the Railroad Administration was perhaps the most glaring offense. The wage advances might pass with no more criticism than should be given all other compromise that increased the cost of living, but the encouragement given by him to insubordination, to the destruction of discipline, to the rules by which I took two or three men to do the work formerly done by one, cannot be passed by lightly. At the present moment, because of higher freight rates every man and woman in this country is compelled to pay an extra tax on every article worn or consumed. How long we shall have to pay, depends upon how soon efficiency of private management can be regained.

Private management is still being interfered with to our cost by advocates of government ownership, a with impractical, unsound theories who know nothing more about railroad operations than possibly to go on and off a train while it is standing still.

Handicap of High Freight Rates and High Building Costs.

The freight rate on coal from this region is twice what it was in 1914, and must be lowered if the manufacturers of the East and New England are to resume their activities and pursue a normal development. Building costs have increased from one hundred and fifty to two hundred per cent all over the country. A miner's house which cost in 1915 twelve hundred dollars, now costs over thirty-six hundred dollars, and is rented at from eight to ten dollars per month—not enough to pay for the proper upkeep, insurance and taxes.

Nation-Wide Price Reductions Being Made.

The farmers generally, and workers in many lines of industry within the last few months have been forced by lack of demand for their product to make a readjustment, and a careful investigation made in this District shows that as compared with a year ago the staple articles of food are selling at retail for 38 per cent less; staple articles of textiles, clothing and shoes, 37 per cent less. Yet some classes want to "pass the buck" to others, thinking they might escape the general readjustment that must inevitably follow such a period of inflated values as the war brought on. Merchants are now forced to meet competition where their margins have been too high.

Low Freight Rates, Cheap Fuel and the People's Savings Responsible for America's Phenomenal Growth.

This country has been wonderfully fortunate through its natural resources. Yet, when you consider, you will find that low freight rates, efficient service, quick transportation and cheap coals were the prime factors in its rapid growth. And all of its wonderful progress was made with private capital, borrowed from savings banks, insurance companies and frugal, industrious people everywhere, including the miners' savings, and managed by men grown up from the rank of the working people. Our aptitudes of industry and our railroad residents, with hardly an exception, were, and still are, workers themselves, without a hope of their labors being limited to six or eight hours a day.

While no one will contend there is not room for improvement, which we should all continue to strive for, what country on the face of the globe compares with ours? People have flocked here so fast from every corner of the earth, that it has been difficult for us to assimilate them, or for them to absorb our national ideals, and today we have the bar up, prohibiting but a limited number of the countless hordes that would swarm upon us in order to get away from the sordid living conditions of their own country.

Future of Democratic Institutions.

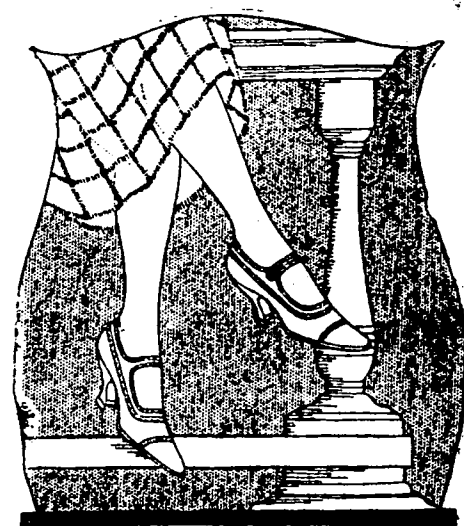

And now what? And it is to this thought that I want to direct your minds. Are we to maintain a government and its policies which have brought us to this enviable position in the world? Because we have our temporary troubles and problems, are we to throw into the discard the tried and proven principles of our Constitution, which guarantee every citizen the right to life, liberty and pursuit of happiness? Our Civil War was fought on these principles.

Alexander Hamilton said more than a century ago of the United States: "A Government must be a nation much as a man is an individual; and consequently that may be good at Philadelphia, may be bad at Paris and ridiculous at Petersburg."

Our form of government provides automatically, through the expressed will of a majority of the voters, for such changes as the people think will benefit the individual, or amend the laws of that character, have been made. No revolution was required. Now we have a small, but noisy, and more or less influential group, preaching revolutionary doctrines; bloodless revolution if possible, they say, but evolution bloodless or otherwise. Capital must be destroyed through strikes, if necessary—strikes at the arteries of the life blood of our civilization—railroad transportation and production; strikes that would cause starvation, freezing and general demoralization to accomplish a revolution in our economic system.

What Class Control of Railroads Would Mean.

With the control of our transportation system, a radical group would be enabled to prohibit the transportation of troops, necessary to enforce our laws. No matter under what guise they make the plea for nationalization of railroads, the underlying motive is practical control of the government. The millions of our arming population, the millions of our solid American citizenship are slow to realize the danger threatened by this comparatively small group.

Fortunately, some of our labor organizations themselves see the danger and refuse to go further with the radical revolutionists. Big Bill Haywood speaks slightly of the Four Brotherhoods of the train service. He says: "They can scarcely be referred to as labor unions; they are little more than insurance organizations, each having property holdings running into millions of dollars," but he believes he finds a fertile field for carrying on revolutionary propaganda among the coal miners of the country. With nationalization of coal mines and railroads, the revolution would be nearly accomplished; the rest would follow quickly in all industries.

"Miners' Program" of District No. 2. Now I come to the "Program" of the miners of this District, presented by President John Brophy at a Convention at Duffalo on February 22d of this year. The "Program" was adopted by the Convention. It is well known that as a rule it is the radical, noisy, irresponsible element of every local that is selected to act as delegates to the Miners' Convention. The best element, namely: the men of family responsibilities, the conservative, thoughtful men, rarely attend meetings of the local and seldom is selected as a delegate to District Conventions, so that it becomes an easy matter to secure a majority vote on any measure that proposes radical action. I cannot believe the "Program" that I refer to will have the support of the best element among the workmen of this District.

The Cleveland Convention of the United Mine Workers of America in 1919 adopted nationalization, it is true, but the union officers of this District, and Maurer, of the Pennsylvania State Federation of Labor, must have thought they didn't mean it. These men say: "There never will be a real national miners' movement for nationalization until this District starts it."

I quote an article from the New York World; you will please note the string of notorious radicals it mentions:

"RADICALS MEET TO FOUND COLLEGE FOR SOCIALISM
Labor Chiefs Start Movement in Brookwood School, Katonah, for New Social Order.

Radical labor leaders from all parts of the country descended upon the placid little village of Katonah, N. Y., yesterday, survived a tortuous journey of a mile of uphill dirt road to the sylvan quiet of the Brookwood School and mulled over the preliminaries to the bloodless revolution.

As solemn and secret as an old-fashioned diplomatic conclave was this assembly of men whose names have been linked with turbulent history in the labor movement. It was held behind closed doors, and a rule of no publicity was announced before most of the conferees had arrived.

Brophy Among Radicals.

But there was issued to curious newspaper men this list of those who attended: Will Foster, leader of the big steel strike; James Maurer, President of the Pennsylvania State Federation of Labor; John Brophy, District President of the United Mine Workers of America; Benjamin Schossberg, Secretary of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers; Miss Rose Schneidemann of the Women's Trade Union League, and Jay G. Brown, President of the International Timber Workers' Union. Brookwood School Experiment.

The Brookwood School, it will be recalled, is an educational experiment designed to instruct the younger generation in the ways of the new social and industrial order. There is no political classification of its purposes, although these naturally fall under the general head of Socialism. The school acquired such publicity when the M. Toscan Bennetts of Hartford made known their plans to renounce luxury and live the simple life in a log cabin, as it can be lived one mile from a one-movie village.

Specifically, the two-day conference will plan a resident workers' college upon the school grounds. From the information available, the college will train

WHY MR. SMITH SAID YES

We were visiting another banker one day when a farmer came in and said:

"Mr. Smith, I am going to that public sale today and I want to buy 30 or 40 head of cattle. May I have the money if I want the stock?"

The banker asked the farmer about his supply of feed and then said: "Sure—go ahead and buy the cattle if you think the price is right. We'll take care of you."

As the farmer went away the banker turned to us and said: "It's a real pleasure to do business with that fellow for he always tells us all we want to know about his affairs. We know what to do for him because we always knew what he is trying to do for himself."

Do you give your banker a fair chance to give you such service?

TERRIERS HUMBLE REYNOLDSVILLE NINE 10 TO 6

Locals Win Easy Victory From Jefferson County Nine.

Manager Hoffman and his crew annexed another victory at Reynoldsville yesterday afternoon when they humbled the Jefferson county contingent to the tune of 10 to 6.

Victory Easily Won

The game proved to be an easy victory for our own and was never even close. Kane opened hostilities by hitting to Williams who promptly booted the ball and Kane made first. He stole second and worked his way home while the side was being retired.

They failed to score in the second. Wolf opened with a double but was thrown out at the plate when he attempted to score after Fauver's long fly to left was caught.

Game Won in Fourth

A second run was harvested in the third on Kane's single and Seigfried's triple. The fourth, however, was the big inning. Fauver opened with a single. Hopper was out on a fly to right and when Farring, Kane, Zerfuh, Seigfried and Fauver singled in a row four runs were chalked.

Take Things Easy

With six runs in the locker the locals took things easy and allowed Reynoldsville a little leeway and a run or two. They put one over in the third and were then given two in the fifth, one in the seventh and two in the eighth.

Our boys also added one run in the fifth on Fauver's single and Hopper's double. A walk, a single and some bum base ball by Reynoldsville gave them two more in the sixth, while a single and a walk with error trimmings did likewise in the seventh.

Features of the Game

The all around work of Seigfried was again the real feature of the game, while Kane and Hopper did great execution with the willow.

Here is William Howard Taft achieving his life ambition. Associate Justice Hoehling of the District Supreme Court is administering the oath of office to Taft as chief justice of the United States Supreme Court. This was in the office of Atty. Gen. Daugherty, Washington.

Commercially Speaking.

An author was showing a visitor over his half-completed house. She was evidently disappointed: "In your books," she said, "you describe baronial halls and splendid castles. But when you start building you put up a little house like this. It's frightfully disappointing. Why do you do it?" "Words," said the author, "are cheaper than stones."

Live U.

The French invented the automobile, and they also invented the name. It is derived from the Greek "Antos," self, and the French "mobile," movable, also uncertain and changeable. Perhaps it is because of its name that some automobiles are so temperamental. One can't very well call a thing uncertain and unchangeable and expect it to act in any other manner.

Fight Over Dollar Ends In Fatality

Pittsburgh, July 15.—A fight over a dollar resulted in the death yesterday in Mercer Hospital of Peter Mohalko, 28, years old, of Evella, Washington county. John Dudash, of Avella who is said to have shot Mohalko is in the Washington county jail, and a charge of murder will be made against him. The shooting occurred on June 19 at Avella.

NEW YORK BROKER SHOT TRYING TO ENTER WIFE'S HOME

Northport, N. Y. July 15.—Harry G. Hemmeling, New York broker, was shot and killed while trying to enter the home of his wife here, from whom he was estranged. He was shot by a deputy sheriff acting as caretaker of the place.

DRY AGENT PINCHED FOR KILLING BLACK IN LIQUOR RAID

Huntingdon, W. a., July 15.—James Gillette, Federal prohibition agent, was arrested yesterday on a warrant charging him with the killing of Lonnie Atwood, a Negro, who was fatally wounded in a liquor raid conducted 10 days ago. Gillette waived preliminary examination before Common Pleas Judge Matthews and was released under bond of $5,000.

Congressional Leaders Refuse Authority for More Foreign Loans

Washington, July 15.—Congressional leaders have refused authority sought by executives to loan money to foreign powers, it was disclosed today when Senator Penrose told the Senate Finance Committee that he had in his possession a bill granting such authority which he had not introduced.

BEIGHTOL—JONES

The home of Mr. and Mrs. W. S.

Jones on Eighth street was the scene of a pretty wedding last evening when Miss Roxie Jones and Lloyd Beightol, both of Clearfield, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. C. Ott of the U. B. church.

The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Victor Jones and the ceremony was witnessed by the immediate relatives of the happy couple. Following the marriage a delicious wedding dinner was enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Beightol departed on a tour of the eastern cities after which they will reside in Clearfield.

workingmen "to usher in the new order." Students acclimated in log cabins will learn the Brookwood theory of industry and its practice and then remodel the world accordingly.

For this presaging of a pacific revolution, labor leaders, so go the plans, will join hands with college professors. Yesterday's conference held several instructors, among them Harry Dana, former professor of English literature in Columbia. Such of the purposes of the conference as have been learned indicate that the man who has made an academic study of the British labor problem will rub professional shoulders with the bull-necked chap who has weathered rough-and-tumble strikes in West Virginia.

"Four Fundamental Tenets." Perhaps the announcement of H. Brougham, press agent for the conference, and for a press agent uniquely shy of publicity, should be quoted here to give the official purposes of the meeting.

Mr. Brougham, press agent of the conference, thus outlines "four fundamental tenets" upon which the conference was held.

"First, that a new social order is needed and is coming—in fact, that it is already on its way.

"Second, that education will not only hasten its coming, but will reduce to a minimum and perhaps do away entirely with a resort to violent methods.

"Third, that the workers are the ones who will usher in this new order.

"Fourth, that there is immediate need for a workers' college with a broad curriculum, located amidst healthy country surroundings, where the students can completely apply themselves to the task at hand."

Out of the minds of such men has grown the "Program" for this District.

Here is the "Program" headed: WHY—THE MINERS' PROGRAM?

1st. Nationalization of the coal industry.

2d. Six hours a day, and five day week.

There are a lot of printed reasons WHY in the "Program," which I shall omit, and a lot of inconsistencies in the reasoning, but nationalization is the plain objective. Rates of wages are not mentioned; it is not necessary! They can fix their own wages if their "Program" is carried out. The "Miners' Program" says: "It is the inevitable next step in collective bargaining. There is no future for collective bargaining unless it takes over new areas and larger functions of control."

In the intoxication of their association with the notorious Foster and Fitzpatrick, and other radicals of Bolshevik theories, they desire in one sentence, an institution built up by men like John Mitchell, W. B. Wilson and Patrick Gilroy, on the real principle of collective bargaining, through which the miner, operator and public benefited and which, prior to the war, kept this region free from serious strikes. In order to gain the plaudits of radicals, they will sacrifice this District, destroy the only hope of co-operating with the operator, and throw thousands of men out of employment letting the work go to other miners, in this and other districts, who are sane enough to see that mining, operator and all must share the share of the readjustment necessary to bring about lower cost of commodities and, of course, reduce the cost of living.

The "Program" goes on to say: "Our challenge to the present basis of the coal industry is this: the private ownership of the great national resource of coal is morally indefensible and economically unound. It results in unemployment when millions of consumers need coal. How absurd! Who can point to a day in the last forty years when there was a general shortage of coal in this country except through strikes of the miners, or on the railroads? There was enough coal produced to supply all the war demands, as well as the public, and millions of tons left in stock when the war ceased."

Conditions Created by 20 Years' Effort Now Threatened.

Compare the condition of the miner with that of twenty years ago. Did collective bargaining help bring about the improvement? I say it did, but the "Program" wipes out the old method. The old leaders recognized economic conditions surrounding the district, and helped meet them to a certain extent, but the radical group says No; let the miner remain idle. Let the trade go elsewhere. We won't discuss a wage readjustment.

CURWENSVILLE

A. K. Way and family left this week for Pittsburgh, where they expect to spend some days visiting Mrs. Way's sister, Mrs. Alice Crowley.

Another batch of Curwensville men left on Thursday to work on State Road near Bigler.

Blackberries are coming into the local market and are selling at from 18 to 20 cents per quart.

Several camping parties have arrived from the east and are now located along the West Branch in shady groves and vales.

Garden thieving is rather prolific in this section, many townspeople complaining that their gardens have received visits from night marauders, and whole baskets of stuff carried away.

Church Classified With
Sunday Amusements

Los Angeles, Cal., July 15.—An ordinance of the city of Pomona, near here, prohibiting Sunday amusements for which an admission fee was charged, was held unconstitutional yesterday by Superior Judge Burnell. The judge declared the draft was class legislation because, while prohibiting theatres and similar enterprises from operating on Sunday, it allowed churches to take up a collection, which he said was virtually an admission fee, at Sunday services.

ULSTER IS NOW REPRESENTED IN PEACE PARLEY

Sir James Craig, Ulster Premier, and Lloyd George Hold Conference Today.

London, Eng., July 15.—Premier Lloyd George conferred today with Eamon DeValera and Sir James Craig, the prime minister of Ulster. He conferred with DeValera this morning and was closeted with Sir James Craig for hours and 15 minutes this afternoon. Lloyd George appears to be attempting to bring the South and the North Irish leaders together for a basis of settlement agreeable to both.

First Time for Ulster

London, Eng., July 15.—Ulster was to be represented in the Irish peace negotiations for the first time this afternoon. Following two conferences with Eamon DeValera, Premier Lloyd George today prepared to meet Sir James Craig, premier of the New Ulster district.

The fact that no further conferences are arranged with DeValera at this time is accepted to mean that the future progress of the negotiations depends on the meeting with Sir James Craig. Sinn Fein officials, following today's conferences, expressed great optimism regarding the outcome of the negotiations.

Great Floral Parade Marks Opening Day—Philadelphia Lodge Has Large Delegation.

Los Angeles, July 15.—(United Press).—With over 100,000 members present at the 1921 grand lodge reunion of the B. P. O. E. the "deer brethren" prepared today for the great floral parade, in which scores of individual lodges are competing with decorated floats.

Oregon is making a strong bid for honors in this event, with an entry costing $10,000. The float is to be presided over by the "prettiest woman in Los Angeles," chosen by George Goodrum and a delegation of the northwestern who have been here "looking 'em over" for some time.

One of the largest individual delegations here is that of the Philadelphia lodge, who left the east, almost 600 strong, immediately after seeing the Dempsey-Carpentier debate. They brought with them the largest drill corps in Elksdom as well as a band and a mounted guard.

The city was decked in gay colors this week, the reunion having assembled July 11. The visitors are the guests of Los Angeles Lodge 99.

Union.

The connection between the theories of the officers of District No. 2, as shown by their "Program," is entirely too close, too much in harmony with Bolshevik theories and practices to be ignored. We see cable despatches from Moscow, quoting Big Bill Haywood, of the I. W. W., returning to this country to serve his well-deserved sentence of twenty years in jail, as saying the most fruitful field for overturning this government is the coal miner.

Frugal and Hardworking Foreigners.

Pawns of Professional Leaders. Are we to sit idly by, ignoring the menace to this District, to the country, and allow these radicals to lead many of our foreign-speaking miners, who are frugal and industrious, into false ideas of our form of government? They do not realize what sufferings have come to the followers of Bolshevism. Our miners, in fact all classes of society, follow leaders, sometimes to our sorrow. The miners must secure, if they are to merit the respect of the public and the operators, leaders who believe in our institutions, who will intelligently and courageously fight for their rights; men who will, however, recognize that they are only one of the necessary parts of our social organization.

U. M. W. of A. Attacks American Legion.

Right here I want to read to you a notice which appeared in the Nanty Glo Journal of June 9th; it has to do with the American Legion:

"To Whom It May Concern:

Nanty Glo, Penna., June 8th, 1921.—It has been called to our attention that several meetings have been held in the St. Mary's Hall for the purpose of organizing a post of the so-called American Legion, but as we positively realize that the American Legion is one of the most antagonistic institutions to organized labor the world has ever known, therefore, Local Unions 1386 and 1347 U. M. W. of A. solemnly condemn the American Legion for its use of mob tactics that are seditious in effect, a shame to true Americanism and destructive of the very thing that we hold near and dear. And for their barbaric actions against the Labor movement in general and against some of our best leaders in particular.

The Promoter.

A few months ago, a newly arrived business man, (enthusiastic about the American Legion they have in a certain town of Somerset County,) attempted to organize a post, but he made a complete failure. At that time some of our Union men were not completely acquainted with the dark history of the said American Legion, therefore, in order to give the workers a more complete and distinct evidence in regard to the American Legion, one of our members wrote to James H. Maurer, President of the State Federation of Labor, and to Mother Jones, the greatest and the oldest member of the U. M. W. of A., for information and here is the reply:

Harrisburg, Pa., March 16, 1921. Dear Friend:—

Just returned from Illinois where I spent five days, trying to defeat the constabulary bill, now pending in the Legislature, the...

As to American Legion, in my opinion, it is an organization to which no worker should belong, because of its history toward the workers ever since it was organized. They practice mob rule and have broken up many labor meetings all over the country. Indeed, not only labor meetings, but they interfered with meetings held for Irish Freedom, for lifting of the Russian Blockade, for Civil Liberty, etc. They even interfered with the convention held in St. Louis last year by the Forty-

Eighters, the new political party. They allowed themselves to be used by our enemy and are being financed by big capital. They were used by enemies of organized labor in Reading last November, a year ago, to persecute me. They, mob-like, attempted to drive me out of Reading, marched in a body to the Labor Lyceum, overthrew the power of our local police and threatened destruction of life and property if I, or anyone else, attempted to make a speech. Sometime later, the Commander of the Legion, with the aid of the sheriff and three state policemen, broke up my labor union meeting at Shamokin. And so I might continue, if time permitted, and give a very dark history of their un-American activities.

Organized capital is using them wherever they can to rob us of our constitutional rights and crush, by sheer force, Organized Labor.

You are quite right in advising the boys of your district not to join such an organization. The Rank and File is all right, so is the Veterans of Foreign Wars, but the American Legion is all wrong.

Fraternally yours,

James H. Maurer.

Charleston, W. Va., April 6, 1921.

My dear Brother:

Your letter of March 30th was forwarded to me from Indianapolis. Permit me to say to you in real sincerity the American Legion is strictly a capitalist organization. American sons and daughters will ever fight for the principles of Patrick Henry, Washington, Jefferson and Lincoln. They will at any time defend the grandest emblem ever handed down to the human race—the stars and stripes. It was not sent forth to float over a nation of ours to be prostituted by American Legions.

Go up to the State of Washington, see what the American Legion have done there to our miners and men; go to Canada and see what the American Legion has done. Go to Montana and see what they have done. American men and women with devotion to their institutions do not stand for any institution of that kind. The American Legion is false to American institutions. If the Legion was necessary, Lincoln, Jefferson, and Patrick Henry would have told us to join. You tell the American Legions for me that they are not Americans but un-Americans, because America is not out for bloodshed. The American working man is out for peace and economic justice. Remain in your economic institution. Stand by your country's honor and don't disgrace it by any means. And the fellow who urged you to join that Legion is either phantasmic or a corporation sure-rat in your local.

With warmest wishes for your success, and the United Mine Workers have done more to humanize to christianize and Americanize the hearts of men and women and children than all the American Legion has done. The United Mine Workers love American institutions. They are fighting for justice, they are fighting for nobler manhood, a grander truer womanhood, a highly developed childhood, intellectually, morally and physically.

Hoping some day to see you all honor to the United Mine Workers, to their sons and daughters, I am, yours for a cause, that is marching towards the key of industrial freedom.

Yours sincerely,

Mother Jones.

The article goes on to say: "The evidences and the expressions of Brother Maurer and Mother Jones should be sufficient to convince any good thinking person that the American Legion does not stand for peace and humanity, for justice and liberty, therefore in accordance to all these and other incontestable facts, the following motion was unanimously adopted at our last regular meeting of Local Unions 1386 and 1347.

THAT WE HEREBY NOTIFY ALL THE U. M. WORKERS TO STAY AWAY FROM THE AMERICAN LEGION. AND THOSE ALREADY AFFILIATED WITH IT, TO WITHDRAW THEIR NAME OR THEY WILL BE EXPELLED FROM THE ABOVE MENTIONED LOCAL UNIONS.

James Maurer is the same man that Mr. Brophy says District No. 2 should be ready to back up funds and to co-operate with in his efforts to start a labor newspaper for Pennsylvania, who in the letter I have just read maligns the American Legion.

The resolution passed by the Nanty Glo Local is in line with the action of these leaders in using every effort to oppose law-preserving organizations, such as militia, State constabulary, or any police force whose duty is to protect life and property.

My impression of the American Legion is that it is an organization of the young men of this country, veterans of our war forces, composed of young men in every walk of life, who responded cheerfully to the call of our country in its hour of danger; who contributed their splendid manhood to preserve our institutions, and who achieved undying glory on the fields of Flanders, Chateau Thierry and the Argonne. The American Legion has as its motive a continuation of the ideals inspired by their defense of our country in the great war; a continuation of the companionship and broadening influences they enjoyed during active service, and further to be ready at all times to respond when danger threatened the principles they once fought for.

A Socialist's Verdict on the Russian Experiment.

The control of industry by workers has been tried out in Russia. Lenin is now appealing to capital to help them out of the desperate situation brought on Russia through their Soviet rule and criminal confiscation of privately-owned property. Our Socialist delegation sent from Italy to investigate in Russia, in spite of their Bolshevik sympathies, reported on their return: "The sole equality that has been won is equality in universal misery."

"Miners' Program"—The Parting of the Ways.

I predict that the leaders of this District, with their "Program," have brought the operators and the union organization to the parting of the ways, and I believe it is high time for the members of this Club, and all the people of this District, to look well into the merits of the issue that is

Pittsburg Police Force Will Get Shaking Up Soon

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 15.—Director of Public Safety Robert J. Alderdice has decided to give the police bureau the biggest shakeup in its history—one that he declares will result in greater efficiency and give the city the benefit of fully 50 per cent of the full strength of the patrolmen's ranks at hours criminals are most active.

The director has decided upon an entire reorganization of the patrolmen which means that every beat in the city is to be changed, and that four shifts of eight hours each day are to be organized, with a change of the day and night men to be put into effect every month.

FAREWELL RECEPTION

Class No. 10, of the West Side Methodist Episcopal Sunday School tendered a delightful farewell reception to Mrs. Fred D. Ward at the Clearfield Park last evening. About forty couples were present and a most delightful evening was spent, embellished by the finest of refreshments.

Mrs. Ward was an enthusiastic member of Class No. 10 during her residence in Clearfield and as she expects to join her husband in their new home at New Castle, Pa., the class members arranged last night's affair in her honor. It was indeed a highly enjoyable occasion.

Hopeless.

Bomb Attempt On Home of Italian Banker Fails

Uniontown, Pa., July 15.—A bold attempt to bomb the residence of Louis Luce, an Italian banker and steamship agent of Republic, near here, early yesterday morning, failed because a 15-foot fuse burned to within five inches of a heavy charge of dynamite then went out. Luce, who says he has no enemies, has offered $500 reward for the conviction of those responsible for the attempted dynamiting.

fraught with such immense importance. You have your rights and your interests involved in the question, and the weight of your intelligent, honest opinion is vital in the final solution towards peace and permanent prosperity for every one. I cannot doubt on which side your influence will be felt. The operator asks no favors from you—no partisan judgment—but he does ask you to study the facts and act accordingly.

So-called Wall Street Conspiracy. We hear many labor leaders shout that there is a conspiracy hatched in Wall Street to force wages down; that employers are also in a conspiracy for the same purpose. Can any sane man believe that Wall Street is interested in anything but the progressive up-building of the standards of American life, and of national prosperity? Wall Street is suffering today, and thousands of so-called Wall Street men and Bankers have lost money this past year; have seen the value of their investments shrink to unbelievably low figures because of their over-optimism and their failure to see the unfortunate economic conditions brought on by the war.

Can anyone believe the Operators of this District have deliberately thrown their trade to other districts, or have refused business they could break even on at the present scale for the simple purpose of reducing wages?

Professional Labor Leaders Retard Resumption of Work, Increase Idleness, Poverty and Discontent. The real cause of the present depression is a buyers' strike. Men and women everywhere are asking the price before they buy. Manufacturers are idle because they cannot find buyers. Building has been largely untended because of absurdly high costs. Rents are high in the cities because of high cost of building and upkeep.

The readjustment is on, and the greatest retarding influence is the professional labor leader, and not the sane working man. How long can they delude their followers? How long can they retard the resumption of normal progress? How long can they keep this District out of step? Only the working man's common sense can give the answer. We want no strike. We want no strike by ers. What we want is plan, honest recognition of conditions, and a square deal.

The merchants, the bankers, the builders and the professional men all must contribute, along with the miner and the operator, to allay unrest, to alleviate the distress and to bring about wholesome conditions as soon as possible.

Coal Customers Lost Now Are Lost For a Year Or More.

It is not the loss of an order for a few cars of spot coal, because of low prices, that I have in mind in this serious review. The present situation is bad for all concerned, but more important is its duration. Business we are now losing is on contracts, upon which eighty per cent of the tonnage of this District is usually done, and which once lost, may be lost for years. How can consumers be expected to pay us more than the price for which the same quality of coal is sold at other mines working on the 1917 scale? When I say the 1917 scale, I mean the $5.00 a day base rate and $1.00 per gross ton for pick mining, which was in effect up to the time of the great strike, November 1st, 1919. While it is true that some small operators of this District make large margins last year, it is not true of the District as a whole. Our company, scattered as its collieries are throughout the District, is fairly representative. We, with many others, are so situated that we cannot and do not depend upon spot market sales. We do business on a contract system, running over a period of a year, or years. Our business and satisfactory work at our mines depend upon the faithful performance of our contracts. Our investments, running into many millions, represent a reserve for coal lands to give life to the operation of a mine thirty years. The development of a mine, its equipment, its housing facilities, its community facilities, lighting, water and sanitary conditions all require an immense outlay representing, outside of the land values, an investment of $3.00 to $5.00 per ton, based on annual capacity.

THIS TIME LAST YEAR
Ruth led his 1919 record by knocking his twenty-ninth home run of Burwell, St. Louis, on the Polo grounds. He scored two runners ahead of him and won the game 13 to 10. He also broke Frank Baker's record of 77 homers in ten seasons. It was Ruth's seventy-eighth.

POLICE STRONG BOX RIFLED.—BIG SUM IS MISSING

Sensation In Pittsburg Cop Circles When $1,212 Disappears From Station.

Pittsburg, July 15.—A sensation was stirred up yesterday in city police circles when it was discovered that the strong box in the Franktown avenue police station, in which money accumulated for fines and forfeits from prisoners had been robbed of $1,212.

Immediately after the discovery had been made and which was promptly reported to Director of Public Safety Robert J. Alderdice and Acting Superintendent of Police Clyde S. Edburn, the suspension of three desk sergeants and a patrolman, who acts as clerk for the police magistrate, was ordered.

The mystery of how the money was stolen is a deep one and already has the sleuths of the police and detective bureaus guessing and deducing to find the guilty person.

Had Been Going Down Hill
Five Years When He Began Taking Tanlac—Gains
Twenty Pounds.

"I not only regained my health but went up from one hundred and twenty-four to one hundred and forty four pounds in weight by taking Tanlac," said Harry C. Luce, owner of Maplewood farm, Springfield, Pa. "My health had been on the decline for five years and I had gotten in mighty bad shape. My appetite was so poor I had to force myself to eat, and I had terrible cramps in my stomach after every meal. I had awful pains in my chest, and my heart palpitated so and skipped beats until I was so out of breath I couldn't do a lick of work. Why, at times I had to grasp for breath, and I became so weak and dizzy that often I could hardly stay on my feet. I was so nervous I shook like a leaf and frequently felt like I would go all to pieces. I had rheumatic pains in my shoulders and arms that got so bad I couldn't put on my coat without help. I would lie awake for hours at night, unable to sleep, and would feel as tired mornings as I did on going to bed. Although I was continually taking medicines and treatments, I seemed to be getting worse all the time.

"One day I saw the statement of a man I knew praising Tanlac, and I started right in on the medicine myself. Well, sir, it has made me feel like a new man. I have a big appetite, sleep like a log and have put on twenty pounds of weight. I got on the scales the other day and weighed more than I ever did before in my life, and I feel fine all the time. There is nothing that can come up to Tanlac."
